CERTIFIED MAIL

Taxpayer identification number: 135-66-8115
Kind of tax: Federal
Amount of claim: $52,271.72

Date of claims received: Oct. 11, 2019
Tax period: Dec. 31, 2014

Dear Taxpayer:

WE CAN'T ALLOW YOUR CLAIM

We disallowed your claim for credit for the tax period listed at the top of this letter.

WHY WE CAN'T ALLOW YOUR CLAIM

You filed your original tax return more than 3 years after the due date. Your tax return showed an overpayment; however, we can't allow your claim for credit or refund of this overpayment because you filed your return more than 3 years after your most recent payment.

We can only credit or refund an overpayment on a return you file within 3 years from its due date. We consider tax you withheld and estimated tax as paid on the due date (i.e., April 15) for filing your tax return. We treat the amount of the allowable earned income credit that exceeds the actual income tax you owe in a similar manner as these prepaid credits.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU DISAGREE

You can appeal our decision with the Office of Appeals (which is an independent organization within the IRS) if we disallowed your claim because our records show that you filed your claim late. Generally, a claim is late if you filed it after the later of:

- 3 years from the due date of a timely-filed return without an extension

- 3 years from the date we received a late return or a timely filed return with an approved extension
- 2 years after you paid the tax

In addition, for a claim filed within three years of the date you filed your tax return, we can only refund or credit the amount you paid during the three-year period before the date you file the claim (plus any approved extension of time to file). If you file your claim more than three years after the date you filed your return, we can only credit or refund the amount you paid during the two-year period before the date you file the claim. The Appeals Office can't change the amount of time the law allows you to file a claim for refund or credit.

If you decide to appeal our decision, send us an explanation of why you believe you filed your claim on time; for example, you had an extension of time to file your original tax return. We will consider your explanation before forwarding your request to the Office of Appeals.

Please note, reasonable cause or similar explanations that may provide relief from a penalty for filing a tax return late don't apply to the time limitations for filing a claim set by law. Exceptions that can extend the time to file a claim for refund include:

- Service in a combat zone
- A claim involving an item with a filing period longer than the general three-year period (for example, bad debts and worthless securities)
- Financial disability

Financial disability is the inability to manage financial affairs due to a medically-determined physical or mental impairment that could result in death or that lasts (or can be expected to last) continuously for at least twelve months. A physician's written statement is required as proof of financial disability. Please review Publication 556, Examination of Returns, Appeal Rights, and Claims for Refund, for more information about these exceptions.

You have the right to appeal our decision to disallow your claim. You can represent yourself before Appeals or you can have an attorney, certified public accountant, enrolled agent, or any other person authorized to practice before the IRS represent you. To have someone represent you, attach Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, (or similar written power of attorney) to your written statement. If we don't hear from you within 30 days from the date of 0348 this letter, we will process your case with the information we have now.

For claims $25,000 or less, you can request a small dollar case appeal. You must prepare a formal protest for a disallowed claim over $25,000.

To request a small dollar case appeal:

1. Prepare a written statement that you want to appeal to the Office of Appeals.
2. List the tax periods or years and disallowed items you disagree with and why you don't agree with each item.
3. Provide your name, address, taxpayer identification number, daytime telephone number, and a copy of this letter.
4. Mail your appeal request to the address at the top of the first page of this letter.

To prepare a formal protest:

1. Prepare a written statement that you want to appeal to the Office of Appeals.
2. List the tax periods or years and disallowed items you disagree with and why you don't agree with each item.
3. Provide your name, address, taxpayer identification number, daytime telephone number, and a copy of this letter.
4. Include a detailed statement of facts with names, amounts, locations, etc., to support your reasons for disputing the disallowance.
5. If you know the particular law or authority that supports your position, identify that law or authority by providing a legal citation.
6. Sign the perjury statement below and include it with your written appeal. If your authorized representative prepares the request for an appeal, he or she must sign the statement.
7. Mail your written formal protest to the address at the top of the first page of this letter.

If you don't agree with our decision, you can file suit to recover tax, penalties, or other amounts, with the United States District Court that has jurisdiction or with the United States Court of Federal Claims. These courts are part of the judicial branch of the federal government and have no connection with the IRS.

The law gives you 2 years from the date of this notice of claim disallowance to file suit. If you signed an agreement that waived your right to this notice of disallowance Form 2297, Waiver of Statutory Notification of Claim Disallowance, the period for filing suit begins on the date you filed the waiver. If you decide to appeal our decision first, the 2-year period still begins from the date of this notice or, if applicable, the date you filed the waiver even if Appeals has not yet rendered a final decision on your case. Consideration of your claim by Appeals does not extend the 2-year period to file suit. However, the 2-year-period can be extended if you and the IRS sign a Form 907, Agreement to Extend the Time to Bring Suit.

A refund or credit cannot be made after the end of the 2-year period (including any extension) unless you file suit during that time. If the end of the 2-year period is approaching and a decision has not been made on your appeal (or if a favorable decision has been made but the refund has not yet been paid), you can file suit, or you can discuss extending this 2-year period with the IRS to protect your ability to receive a refund. If you do not file suit within the 2-year period or sign an agreement with the IRS extending the 2-year period to file suit, you may lose your ability to receive a refund, even if a favorable decision on your appeal has already been made.

You can get the forms or publications mentioned in this letter by visiting our website at www.irs.gov/forms-pubs or by calling 800-TAX-FORM (800-829-3676).
